Thanks for the heads up Kim.

I think we should sit down internally to discuss. Although pride of authorship isn't a concern of Governor Palin's, my fear is that Sen Wielechowski is getting out ahead on something that originated with Governor Palin and that DOF has already been working on.

Hi Kim and Jerry,

Attached is a revised draft of the bill that would mandate creation of an "online checkbook" for the state. I think the drafters made all the changes we discussed. Please let me know if you see any other problems. This bill is scheduled to be introduced in the first batch of prefiles. Please do not forward it to others at this time.

Thanks,

Michelle

By the way, I don't want to overplay this request but the Arts and Humanities people really would love it if you came to their Govemor Award dinner next year, they really missed you in Fairbanks.

I think the LNG press event went very weli.. The focus I hed feared – linkage between future Enstar pricing and export pricing – did not materialize.

Thanks egein.

Dear Govenor Palin,

You have asked for suggestions for spending surplus monies. I hope that some of this money could be applied to increase staffing for Fish & Game. In the last two years, I have witnessed illegal snagging of salmon on Willow creek with help too far away to respond in time to be effective with catching the people that are guilty of this. I also became aware of a young black bear being shot(in my neighborhood/subdivision) because it waa attracted to garbage in an open trailer. This event was reported with no response. Shooting a cow Moose with calves in a subdivision was also reported with no active response. It is very sad to see precious wildlife unprotected & to see our parks, State or otherwise, poorly suppervised & abused. It would be my hope that some of this money could find it's way to increasing trained Fish & Game Officials to enforce the rules that protect State Parks & wildlife. Thank you for your time & consideration.

Sincerely,

Dear Governor Palin,

Two events related to law enforcement ere likely to draw some ettention In the next three weeks:

1. Sen. French had attempted to set up a "crime summit" last summer. He originelly set it for the first week of November and then found out that it conflicted with his own obligetions on the VPSO (Village Public Safety Officer) Task force. His initial announcements Included e letter to you asking that you direct your commissioners to participate.

He has now re-charecterized the event as the "Senete Judiciary Committee's Crime Summit" and scheduled it for the beginning of the session on January 16 end 17. He hes lined up two days of testimony to "explore leading criminal justice issues". Comm. Monegan is set to testify on January 16. Comm. Schmidt will testify on Jan. 17. Anchorege DA Adrienne Bachman from my office will testify on January 16. You may already know about all of this, I will provide Mr. Tibbles with e copy of the full egenda this morning. I suppose Sen. French hes a planned outcome as he has been planning this for about eight months.

2. In the meantime, the VPSO task force which includes French, Monegan, myself end others will have what may be e finel meeting on Jan. 18. A meeting thet has now been postponed twice due to schedule conflicts. I would expect that the end recommendetion of the task force will be a request for e substantial funding Increase from the state to increase VPSO pay., provide housing assistance and improve benefits.

This is just to give you and Mr. Tibbles a heads up that Sen. French will likely heve e lot to say soon about public safety on a statewide basis.

Subject: Final information re: Cook Inlet LNG Agreement' Press Conference

Governor, All,

Attached are the "final" documents for use at tomorrows Cook Inlet LNG Agreement' Press Conference:

1) Governor's suggested "Opening Statsment." Note that I've also included information on the Opening Statements from:

a. Jim Bowles, President, ConocoPhillips, Aleska;

b. Steve Hinchman, Senior Vice President Worldwide Production, Marathon Oil company;

c. Gene Dubay, Senior Vice President of Operetions, Semco (parent company of Enster).

Pleese note that these gentlemen heve crafted their stetements assuming the Governor will begin the Press Conference with her Opening Statement going FIRST.

2) Cook Inlet LNG Agreement "Executive Summary" – e one-page overview of the Agreement.

3) Cook Inlet LNG Agreement "Questions & Answers" – divided into those questions expected to be posed to the state and those questions expected to be posed to the two compenies.

4) Line-up of Press Conference attendees from CP, MO, Enstar & the stete. On this document I'va identified titles and noted those individuals who served on the Agraament' negotiating team.

Additional pertinent information:

* The expectation is the event will unfold as follows:

  * Opening Statement from Governor Palin, followed by;
  * Opaning Statements from:

    * Jim Bowles, ConocoPhillips, Alaska
    * Steve Hinchman, Marathon Oil Company
    * Gene Dubay, Enstar

  * Then it will be turned-over to Questions & Answers. I am told that Jim Bowles (CP) & Steve Hinchman (MO) will attampt to personally handle all questions that are pertinent for the two companies to answer. Only if they feel they cannot proparly address the questions will they turn the question over to their supporting staff.

* I will have 50 copies of the Agreemant & the Agreement' Executive Summary available for hand-out at the press conference. Additionally, by 12:15pm we will have both of thase documents posted on the following website, which we can refar people to if they ara not physically at the Press Conference:

  * www.dog.dnr.state.ak.us/oil/

* We will NOT make the "Questions & Answers" documant available to the public, as this was developed for internal use only.

* The Cook Inlet LNG Agreement has been filed with the Dept of Energy (DOE) undar a supplement Pleading. The State "filed" (mailed) this document on January 2nd. DOE should receive this filing by January 4th , at the latest. The State and the two companies will also be calling DOE to notify them it is enroute tomorrow. The document filed with the DOE is referred to as the "State's Supplemental Comments and Settlement Agreement."

* I have provided this information to John Katz and asked him to give our Congressional Delegation a heads-up that we have reached this agreement, and have simultaneously filed this Pleading with the Dept of Energy (DOE), before our teleconference tomorrow. I am told that the companies intend to provide this same update to our Congressional Delegation tomorrow morning.

* I have asked the Press Conference attendees to meet in the Governor's Anchorage Office at 11:45am. Several of the company representatives have not met the Governor and would like the opportunity to meet her before the Press Conference. Plus, the group includes multiple "CEO types." Therefore it might be useful to move the group into the Governor's Office just before the press conference in order for her to meet everyone and then we could all proceed into the conference room through the Governor's entrance. And, I do apologize that there will be such a MOB, but they all wanted to attend!

* Please note that Attorney General Talis Colberg, and AAG Steve DeVries will also attend the press conference. Neither Attorney General Colberg nor Steve DeVries were identified on my previous list.

* The Governor should expect to be asked about the CP' Gas Pipeline "proposal", that came to the state outside the AGIA' process. Jim Bowles and I spoke today in order to get clarity on what the Governor and he might say in response to an enquiry on this subject. I told him that I would suggest to the Governor that she reiterate what she has already said, as follows:

"We are focused on our AGIA' process and we will be looking at (or reviewing) the CP' propoeal when time allows."

Jim indicated that he would say something supportive of that statement, such as:

"We recognize that the state must focus on the AGIA' process, but we are assured they will review our proposal in due course." He may go on to say something like the following:

. . . .

"The Cook Inlet LNG Agreement represents an excellent model and we believe that it could be used on the ANS gas pipeline project ss well."

I think this covers everything. Please call me at #317-4728 if you need something further. I do apologize that this event has so many moving parts and requires such formal structure! Thanks very much for your support Governor! Reaching this Agreement is completely due to your willingness for us to work on the issues.

Subjsct: AGIA Press Conf Itinerary

Evening Governor,

Tomorrow is going to be great. Here's the plan:

1. 9:00 - 9:30. Tom, Pat, Marty and John Katz will convene a teleconference with staffers from the Congressional delegation (John confirms that none of the principals are available, hsnce them doing it instead of you). Drue will also be on the call.

2. 9:30. Tony Palmer is in Calgary expecting a call from you to announce the good news. Please go to Tom's office on the 14th floor to place the call. Tom, Pat, and Marty will be with you. Obviously feel free to draw from the attached opening remarks if you wish, or more likely, shoot from the hip. You can't go wrong!

3. 9:45- 10:45 (ish). You make courtesy calls to key Legislators. Joe is still compiling that list, but his method is to ask the leadership from majority and minority houses who "else" should be called; places the burden on those folks to do the line drawing. Joe will weigh in when he has further guidance.

4. 10:00: Tom, Pat, and Marty will be making the calls to the remaining four applicants. With the press conference to commence at 11:00 we wanted to extend the courtesy, but did not want there to be too much of a gap between the calls and the conference, in case some applicant decided to immediately begin complaining to media (unlikely, but possible). An hour seemed to be a reasonable compromise there. We may diplomatically request that the applicants refrain from doing so, at least until you have completed your press conference.

5. 11:00. Press conference.

Sharon will run the show. As you do not like to go out there "cold," Sharon will kick off with brief introductory remarks about the procedure, the topic to be discussed, and the order of speakers.

Then you deliver your remarks (draft remarks attached). Privileged or Person

Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

You will introduce Marty, whose primary job will be to introduce the gasline team.

Marty will turn it over to Tom, who will draw from key AGIA requirements, and tie those to Transcanada's application as having fulfillsd them, and how/why that is so important to Alaskans, and Americans. He will talk about 187 legal requirements (20 statutory and 167 RFA requirements), and how TC met every single one, and why this is such a positive place for Alaskans to be right now.

Tom will turn it to Pat, who will talk about what is next procedurally. Many folks' natural first resction of may be, "You only have one? Then that means we can get right to the Legislature, right?" Pat will answer in more detail (than what you had had covered), that this is not the case, that due diligence requires a process, not the least of which is a 60-day public comment process.

Then, Q&A. Attached is s list of expected Q's, with recommended A's (this is not for public distribution). The answsrs are concise, and you obviously can review them to decids which you'd like to hit versus which to turn over to Marty (Marty will be "lead" in answering questions, but Pst or Tom will step in when ths spirit moves).

I will bring copies of the public notice (announcing the comment period procedures), which staff can distribute with the press release. This public notice will be posted in the papers, and is being mailed to approximately 2500 locations around the stste, every post office, library, tribal council, etc. It is sttached FYI; you'll note that it is not a "routine" stark notice, but rather has a large, florid (Alaska blue-n-gold colored!) text window in the center, signed by Tom and Pat, which gives it a very colloquial and personal flavor.

Then, high fives all around!

Only red flag is my calling legislators in short amount of time - they are notorious for cornering me on phone or in person to talk all over the globe about their issues, what we're doing "wrong", etc. I just don't want certain ones to go on and on about other issues while they have me on the phone.

The rest of this sounds great. Thanks!

Evening Governor,

Tomorrow is going to be grest. Here's the plan:

1. 9:00 - 9:30. Tom, Pat, Marty snd John Katz will convene s teleconference with staffers from the Congressional delegstion (John confirms that none of the principals sre available, hsnce them doing it instead of you). Drue will also be on the call.

2. 9:30. Tony Pslmer is in Cslgsry expecting a call from you to announce the good news. Please go to Tom's office on the 14th floor to place the csll. Tom, Pat, and Marty will be with you. Obviously feel free to draw from the attached opening remarks if you wish, or more likely, shoot from the hip. You can't go wrong!

3. 9:45- 10:45 (ish). You make courtesy calls to key Legislators. Joe is still compiling that list, but his method is to ssk the leadership from majority and minority houses who "else" should be csllеd; places the burden on those folks to do the line drawing. Joe will weigh in when he has further guidance.

4. 10:00: Tom, Pat, and Marty will be making the calls to the remaining four applicants. With the press conference to commence at 11:00 we wanted to extend the courtesy, but did not want there to be too much of a gap between the calls and the confsrence, in cass some applicant decided to immsdiately begin complaining to media (unlikely, but possible). An hour seemed to be a reasonable compromise there. We may diplomatically request that the applicants refrain from doing so, at least until you have completed your press conference.

5. 11:00. Press conference.

Sharon will run ths show. As you do not like to go out there "cold," Sharon will kick off with brief introductory remarks about the procedure, the topic to be discussed, and the order of speakers.

Then you deliver your remarks (draft remarks attached). Privileged or Persona

Donuts? I'll have to think on that one...yesterday I was in the Atwood elevator and a woman gets in the elevator with me (with two other passengers). She looks at me twice, hesitates, then says, "You're the lieutenant governor, aren't you?" I said, "Yes, I'm Sean." She said, "You're much nicer looking in person than on tv." To which I kind of blushed and said, "Thank you." Then, she said, "You look much...(long pause then a blurt..) bigger on tv." She smiled and walked off the elevator. So, I look at donuts with different eyes now.

Governor,

Later tonight, I will be sending you, and those copied here, the itinerary for tomorrow, including the morning's pre-press conference calls (cong deleg, leggies, applicants). I will attach to the email two attachments: (1) recommended Governor remarks, and (2) expected Q's and recommended A's. It will be similar to the email Marty sent you last night re the (awesome!) LNG press conf today.

I think we should sit down internally to discuss. Although pride of authorship isn't a concern of Governor Palin's, my fear is that Sen Wielechowski is getting out ahead on something that originated with Governor Palin and that DOF has already been working on.

Hi Kim and Jerry,

Attached is a revised draft of the bill that would mandate creation of an "online checkbook" for the state. I think the drafters made all the changes we discussed. Please let me know if you see any other problems. This bill is scheduled to be introduced in the first batch of prefiles. Please do not forward it to others at this time.

Thanks,

Michelle
